- Only undergraduate students are allowed to participate.
- Cross-year and cross-college participation is allowed.
- Participants must provide a valid student ID or proof of enrollment.

TEAM SIZE LIMITATIONS

- eams must consist of 2 to 4 members.
- Each participant may only be part of one team.

RESOURCES

- Travel expenses will not be covered by the institution.
- Participants are responsible for their own travel arrangements and costs.
- Participants should arrange accommodation on their own before and after the event.

TEAM SIZE LIMITATIONS

- WiFi will be available throughout the event.
- Plug points will be provided for device charging

FOOD

- Lunch, snacks, and dinner will be provided on Day 1, as well as breakfast on Day 2. No food will be provided prior to the event start.
- Participants with dietary restrictions should inform organizers in advance.
- Outside food is permitted; however, participants must coordinate with organizers for any deliveries to ensure a smooth experience

DRESS CODE

- Participants are expected to wear appropriate clothing

Use of External Resources

- Participants may utilize external libraries, APIs, and other resources, provided that all external tools are properly credited in your project documentation. Use of LLMs (e.g., ChatGPT, Claude) for code generation is permitted.
- However, any instances of plagiarism from GitHub or YouTube projects will result in disqualification. Participants must adhere to licensing agreements for any external resources used

Communication Guidelines

- All participants must engage in respectful communication at all times. Disruptive behavior or harassment towards other participants or organizers will not be tolerated. Discrimination of any kind will not be tolerated

Conduct and Ethics

- Participants are expected to uphold ethical standards in their projects. Any form of cheating or misconduct will lead to disqualification. All projects must be original and created during the hackathon. Pre-existing projects may not be submitted.

Intellectual Property

- By participating, you grant the organizers the right to use your project name and description for promotional purposes

Liability Waiver

- Participants must sign a waiver acknowledging that the organizers are not liable for any injuries, damages, or losses incurred during the event

Damage to College Property

- Participants are responsible for any damage caused to college property during the event. Accidental damage must be reported to the organizers immediately. Participants may be held financially liable for repairs or replacement of damaged resources

Forfeiture

- If a team chooses to forfeit at any point before the conclusion of the hackathon, the organizers and the institution will no longer be responsible for that team or its members. All associated privileges, including access to resources and meals, will be revoked upon forfeiture. Participants who forfeit must formally notify the organizing committee to ensure proper documentation.

Substance Policy

- The carrying of sharp objects, as well as the possession, consumption, and distribution of substances such as alcohol, cigarettes, e-cigarettes (vapes), illegal drugs, and any other controlled substances on campus or within the event venue are strictly prohibited. This includes, but is not limited to, substances that may impair judgment or pose health risks. Participants who need to take prescribed medications for medical reasons should inform the organizing committee in advance. Participants found in violation of this policy will face immediate disciplinary action, which may include disqualification from the hackathon, removal from the venue, and reporting to campus security or local authorities as necessary

Finality of Decisions

- Decisions made by the organizing committee are final and binding in case of conflicts or any other issues. Participants must adhere to all rules and guidelines set forth by the committee.
